THE JUDGE MAY REVOKE LICENSE

Rule Issued Against Mr. Krouse of Lakeside.

THE INQUEST IS AT AN END

Jury Reaches Verdict in R. F. & P. Accident Case-Magistrate Made Man Pull Off His Shoes-The C. and O. Buys Property.

A rule will be issued to-day by Judge T. Ashby Wickham, of the Henrico County Court, summoning Mr. J. Sandy Krouse proprietor of the restaurant at the Lakeside Park, to appear before court and show cause why his license should not be revoked. The action is based upon the warrants recently sworn out against Mr. Krouse, charging him with selling whiskey on Sunday, and with permitting the operation of a slot machine in his place.

It will be remembered that he peaded guilty of the charge when arraigned bofore 'Squire George W. Thomas, and was fined heavily.

The action of Judge Wickham in following up the fines in the Magistrates' Court with the rule indicates plainly that the Henrico authorities are as much bent upon breaking up the sale of whiskey on Sunday as are the Richmond officers.

The inquest over the remains of Thomas B. Smith, the engineer on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad. who was killed a short while ago at Acca, came to an end yesterday after consuming more than a week. The evidence was volumuous. Several other wit nesses were to be examined, but the jury believing that they could throw no addi-tional light upon the matter, deemed it wise to wind up the case. The ver-dict rendered is as follows:
"The jurors sworn to inquire when, low, and by what means the said Thomas B. Smith came to his death, upon their oath do say that he came to his death on July 6, 1902, by running into an obstruction on the main line, put there by party or parties unknown to Writing a Platform.

Hon. George Wayne Anderson, of Rich-nond, has a scheme for the Democratic party of the State. We see it outlined in the Richmond Times. It is to hold a ittate Convention about a year in adon the National convention, and put forth a platform that will be a beation light for all the other States, and that will be followed by them. Virginia this way once more to take her Pance of the National convention, and stand at the front in political leadership. With all due respect to Mr. Anderson, the idea seems to us an impractical one. No platform written a year ahead of time fits the occasion. Moreover, if the Virginia Democrats were to put forth a crazy patchwork, such as they are in the habit of putting forth, it would make little impression on the country at large. Since Readjuster days the Virginia platically in the country at large.

Since Readjuster days the Virginia platforms have been miserable mixtures that caricature Democratic doctrines.

Another thing: What the Democratic party wants in order to take leadership is to do something; platforms enough will follow brainy and vigorous action.
Let the Democratic party everywhere show that it understands the principles of Democracy and when a platform is needed it can be easily written.—Staunton News.

The burning of the Auditorium building in Richmond will be regretted by those who in days gone by have attended the State fairs and other enjoyable entertainments under the great roof.

The Horse Show Association will build itself a suitable biulding, but the only large hall for enormous gatherings such as Richmond often has is a thing of the past, and there is none to take its place. Now is the time for Richmond to build just such a convention hall as becomes the first city in the State. It might be something in the nature of the great much hall in Baltimore, where its annual May festival gould be held, where civil and religious bodies might gather, and where Confederate reunions and State conventions would find ample accommodations.

IMPROVEMENT IN TOBACCO

The Crop on the Whole is Doing Well. Corn Makes Excellent Progress. A Fair Yield of

The climate and crop bulletin issued by the United States Weather Bureau for the week ending July 14th is as follows: GENERAL SITUATION.

Up to Thursday afternoon the tempera ures of the week ranged high, and as the soil was in good order, all classes of crops make a very good growth. After Thursday, however, the weather turned cooler and remained so for the rest of the week. This in a measure checked growth, but not sufficiently so to make crops backward. The rainfall occurring over the State was abundant and well distributed, except in the Valley division, where showers were rather light and local. Some corres-pondents in this section, therefore, report that rain is needed. Excellent opportunity has been afforded for work in the field, and field crops and gardens are generally clean and free from weeds and gross. Taylor her and grass. Laying by of the various crops has been progressing, and this work is now finished in Tidewater and and grass. Middle Virginia counties. The hay crop has been about secured. The yield is light in most sections.

Winter wheat: This crop has been secured.

cured in about all localities and is either in stack or in barn. Threshing has been progressing, and reports as to yield show no change from previous conditions—light yields, but an excellent quality of grain. Spring oats harvest has continued dur-ing the week over an increased area. As a rule, the yield is fair, though the straw is short. In portions of the Valley divi-sion late fields are ripening.

Corn made excellent progress during the week. Showers and warm weather were very beneficial to the crop, and it made a rapid advance until Friday, when growth was slower. Ine fields are clean and a large part of the crop laid by. It is in very promising condition in all rtions of the State. Tobacco: The improvement in this crop has been decided. While there are some late fields where the plants are small as yet, and others in which they are irregular, due to resetting, yet on the whole the weather of the week was favorable, and the crop is doing well. Potatoes (Irish) are coming forward nicely in the Middle and Valley divi-sions, though in the latter the weather is rather too dry for best results. Sweet notatoes are doing well. Fruit: Correspondents, almost without exception, report apples and peaches to be falling. The former is carce, and the latter below the average. Other fruits are doing very well

He said he owed it to himself and his constituency to state frankly his reasons for sending out his recent letter to his colleagues on the subject, and then he launched into a long speech, which was listened to with respectful attention.

Ho denied in strong terms the legal right of the convention to proclaim its work, and contended that the instrument was not and would not be in effect until accepted by the General Assembly.

He called convention sovereignty He called convention and declared that a dis-satisfied constituency would bring about a day of reckoning with those who had usurped their power and disregarded all precedents and law on the subject. Mr. Caton's speech was largely a rehash of the convention arguments against pro-clamation, and thus a Democratic mem-ber stood in on the floor of a Democratic Legislature speaking against the work of a Democratic body, which is now in force, having been proclaimed and accepted by the people.
